From the Chief of Police...

I am extremely proud to present the Annual Security Report for 2007. This report has been designed to provide you with as much information as possible about campus safety and security at Howard University. The annual report also provides practical useful information for all university community members, as well as a snapshot of crime statistics for the past three years.

Howard University which is located in the northwest quadrant of Washington D.C., is considered a relatively safe university, when one considers its location in a major metropolitan city, the multiple campuses, as well as a Level-One Trauma Hospital which is a part of the university. The safety that Howard University enjoys is due in large part to the collaborative efforts of many departments, and different stakeholders groups working together. We view our safety goals as a part of a shared destiny on behalf of every university community member playing their role by reporting suspicious activities, and working in partnership with the police department to continually improve safety and security at Howard University.

The Howard University Police Department is primarily responsible for establishing and enhancing all safety, security services, and strategies for the university.

The Police Department fulfills its daily mission by focusing on three fundamental cornerstones: Prevention, Community-Oriented Partnerships, and Professionalism. These fundamental cornerstones are embedded into the following five goals that were established by the Department so that it could operationally execute its mission on a daily basis:

1. Crime Prevention and Reduction
2. Building Community Oriented Partnerships university-wide
3. Developing a “highly trained” workforce
4. Leveraging Security Technology as a force multiplier
5. Ensuring the university has a proactive Emergency Management strategy

The men and women of the police department work hard in collaboration with our students, faculty members, administrators, and staff to help insure that our University remains a safe place for academic excellence to thrive. I hope that you find this annual report informative and helpful, and that it will provide you with the information and resources that you need to be safe and feel secure while on campus. If you have any questions or would like additional information about safety and security at Howard University, please visit our website at www.howard.eduservices/campupolice/ or contact us at 202-806-1100.

Leroy K. James
Chief of Police
Howard University

Vision Statement – To provide a safe and secure environment so that Howard University can fulfill its commitment to educating, African Americans and other people of color in particular for leadership and service to our nation and the global community.

Mission Statement – To work in partnership with the students, faculty, administration, and staff of Howard University to prevent crime, maintain order, safeguard property and enhance a quality of life that enables the achievement of academic excellence.

Campus Police Core Values

Integrity: We firmly adhere to the core values of the Department and the professional ethics in the Law Enforcement Code of Ethics. All members of the agency are expected to know and adhere to the highest ethical standards.

Professionalism: We continually strive to attain and enhance our knowledge, skills, and abilities in order to be able to provide higher standards of service to the university community.

Respect: We treat all members of the university community and the public at large with respect and dignity.

Service: We understand and adhere to the concept that espouses that there can be no greater gesture than to serve another human being. In that regard we uphold and consider it a great honor to be able to serve the university community in our quest to fulfill our mission.

Accountability: We hold ourselves accountable on a daily basis, and strive to always accept responsibility for our actions as law enforcement professionals, while meeting the expectations of those whom we serve.

Campus Security Authorities

The definition of “Campus Security Authority”, according to the federal law is as follows:

“An official of an institution who has significant responsibility for student and campus activities, including, but not limited to, student housing, student discipline and campus judicial proceedings.”

student extra curricular activities, has significant responsibility for student and campus activities. Similarly, a Director of Athletics, Team Coach and Faculty Advisor. A single teaching faculty member is unlikely to have significant responsibility for student and campus activities, except when serving as an advisor to a student group.

For example, a Dean of Resident Life who oversees student housing, a student center, or

CAMPUS SECURITY POLICY AND CAMPUS CRIME STATISTICS ACT

The Campus Security Act requires colleges and universities to: Publish an annual report every year by October 1. That report must contain three years of data on campus crime, as well as certain campus security policy statements.

Disclose crime statistics for campuses, public areas immediately adjacent to or running through the university, and certain non-campus facilities and remote classrooms. The statistics must be gathered from campus police or security, local law enforcement, and other university officials who have “significant responsibility for student and campus activities.”

Provide “timely warning” notices of those crimes that have occurred and pose an on-going “threat to students and employees”, and Disclose in a public crime log “any crime that occurred on campus, or within the patrol jurisdiction of the campus police, or the campus security department and is reported to the campus police, or the campus security department.

The Howard University Police Department is primarily responsible for preparing and distributing the annual report. However, the department works with many other departments and agencies, both internally and externally to gather and report the information that is required by the Campus Security Act.

Members of the Howard University community are encouraged to use this report as a guide for engaging in safe activities on and off campus. A copy of this report is available on the Police Department’s website at: www.howard.edu/services/campuspolice/

For a hardcopy of the annual report or to view the daily crime log, contact the police department’s Georgia Avenue Substation at 202-806-4100. You may review the entire sex offender registry by:

Visiting one of the MPD Police Districts, or, visiting the Sex Offender Registry Unit at 300 Indiana Avenue, NW, Washington, D.C. 20001. Telephone: (202) 727-4407, or viewing the District of Columbia Government web address:

For Virginia: <http://sex-offender.vsp.virginia.gov/sor/>

Consistent with this law, if you have concerns about a sex offender in your neighborhood or sex offenders in general, have information on the whereabouts of a wanted sex offender, believe any information in this Registry is incorrect, or you would like further information, please contact the Sex Offender Registry at 300 Indiana Avenue, NW, Washington, D.C. 20001.

Unlawful use of this information to threaten, intimidate, harass, or injure a registered sex offender will not be tolerated and will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

The Howard University Police Department

The Howard University Police Department (HUPD) is the primary agency responsible for the safety and security of the students, faculty, staff, and visitors on the various campuses of the university. The Police Department's headquarters is located at 2244 10th Street, NW, 2nd Floor, Washington, D.C. 20059, the main telephone number is: (202) 806-1100. The Department operates two substations that are open on a twenty-four hour basis. The Georgia Avenue substation is located at 2200 Georgia Avenue, near the corner or "W" Street adjacent to the Howard Center parking lot.

This substation is staffed by a campus police officer twenty-four a day and serves as a center for receiving calls for police services and assistance, while also serving as an information portal to members of the university community as well as the public. This substation currently houses a radio communications system, and monitors the "emergency Blue Light" system, both of which will be migrated to a state of the art Security Operations Center (SOC) in the near future. The SOC will house the radio communications/dispatch function, the "emergency Blue Light" system, as well as the Access Control systems, and all surveillance camera and monitoring systems for the university.

HUPD

The second substation for the police department is located within the Howard University Hospital which is located at 2041 Georgia Avenue. This substation provides a communications/dispatch function for the police officers assigned primarily to the hospital and the Medical campus of the university.

Howard University Police Officers are either armed Special Police Officers or unarmed Security Officers. These Officers have been commissioned, or licensed, by the Washington, D.C. Metropolitan Police Department, Security Officers Management Branch, and operate under their guidelines, as well as local and Federal Laws. HUPD officers and investigators have developed and maintain extremely close working relations with the Metropolitan Police Department (MPD), other University Police Department's in the Washington Metropolitan region, as well as many other local, State, and Federal law enforcement agencies.

In February 2008, the Howard University Police Department under new leadership embarked on a mission to change the strategic direction and the operating philosophy of the agency to be more consistent with other university police department's nationwide. This change has led to a re-engineering process that is designed to update the policies, procedures, practices, and organizational structure of the organization in order to make it more efficient and effective. The “best practices” of university policing nationwide are being adopted and integrated into the fabric and culture of the HUPD. The goal of this re-engineering process is to make the HUPD one of the premier, nationally accredited university police departments in the United States, providing the best safety and security services for its students, faculty, staff, and visitors.

The police department's structure has been recently re-organized to group all functions into two bureaus.

The Field Services Bureau (FSB) is comprised of the following sections: Campus Patrol and Security Services, Howard University Hospital Patrol and Security Services, and the Physical Security and Communications Services.

The Support Services Bureau (SSB) is comprised of the following sections: Administrative Services, Special Operations Services, Training and Education Services, and the Criminal Investigations and Crime Analysis Services section. This reconfiguration structure provides a better structure for the delivery of more efficient and effective services for our customers. Another recent change has been the incorporation of a vision statement and a mission statement, as well as a core set of values adopted by the members of the police department.

Policy Concerning Reporting Criminal Actions or Emergencies

The Campus Police are dispatched immediately when a report of a crime or incident is received. Officers prepare and submit reports after interviewing complainants. When necessary, investigative and support services are made available. When a report involves a felony (e.g., rape, armed robbery, etc.) CPD automatically notifies MPD for assistance and both respond. In less serious situations, MPD is kept informed of campus crimes during periodic meetings.

PROCEDURES FOR REPORTING SEX OFFENSES

An individual who claims to be a victim of a sexual offense may notify any Howard University administrator or the Howard University Police Department. An administrator shall immediately direct that individual to a Dean or the UPD. The Dean or UPD personnel shall immediately inform the individual claiming to be a victim of a sexual offense of:

- (1) The victim's right to notify the appropriate law enforcement authorities, including the local police;
- (2) The victim's right to file criminal charges with the appropriate law enforcement authorities.
- (3) The importance of preserving evidence necessary to the proof of a criminal sexual offense and prompt notification of law enforcement authorities;
- (4) The name and location of the nearest hospitals equipped with the sexual assault evidence collection kit.

The university will assist any victim of sexual offense in notifying local law enforcement authorities and in securing appropriate medical attention, including transportation to the nearest hospital.

The University shall also provide to any victim of a sexual offense immediate access to a professional counselor that is trained and experienced in dealing with sexual offense crisis. Any student victim of a sexual offense may request a change in academic situation after an alleged sexual offense. The University will notify the victim of the options for such changes and make changes if they are reasonably available. To make a request, students should contact the Dean for Special Student Services on (202) 238-2420.

Policy Violations

Individuals found to have committed a sexual offense in violation of the Howard University policy will be subject to disciplinary action in accordance with University procedures up to and including dismissal from employment or from such academic or other University-sponsored program in which such individuals participates, and / or expulsion from the University. Any individual who learns of an alleged incident of a sexual offense shall inform the Vice President for Human Capital Management (202) 806-5770 or University Police (202) 806-1100, who shall be responsible for contacting the alleged victim. The alleged victim will also be informed of his or her right to file a formal complaint and offered assistance in initiating¹³ a complaint.

Reporting Crimes and Emergencies

You may report any suspected criminal activity and/or other emergencies directly to CPD by dialing extension 6-7777 from any campus telephone. When dialing from outside telephones, you may reach CPD by dialing (202) 806-7777 or 806-1100.

Timely Warnings and Safety Alerts

Timely Warnings and Safety Alerts are announced and transmitted through the HU Campus Police website www.howard.edu/services/campuspolice/, the Office of University Communications using email and , The Hilltop student newspaper.

Special Safety Tips

Special safety tips are announced and transmitted through the University's Website throughout the school year with particular emphasis on any upcoming holidays or college recess when students will be away from their residence halls for an extended period of time.

Rape Aggression Defense (RAD) Classes

RAD classes for female students are provided by the HU Police Department. This comprehensive course begins with awareness, prevention, risk reduction and avoidance. This class then progresses to the basics of hands-on defense training. Certified RAD instructors teach this course shortly after registration and upon special request.

Crime Prevention Outreach

Crime Prevention Outreach is a program that ensures the Department disseminates crime prevention pamphlets and other literature to students at safety campaigns. These sessions are held during the Spring and Fall registration and orientation periods and at seminars and workshops held in residence halls and dormitories throughout the year.

The Escort Service

The Campus Police Department and Student Services jointly provide an Escort Service to students, faculty and staff when they have to travel alone on campus in isolated areas after dark, where there is low activity on campus, or anytime someone requests this service who is concerned for their personal safety. Refer to the Key Telephone Numbers section for the appropriate telephone numbers.
